ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Amber Henry has surprised herself, from time to time, with her bravery. She has had many adventures that have taken her to many wonderful places, and has met many beautiful people. She hopes that you will also find adventure and have stories to tell to all the beautiful people you meet along the way.

A LOOK INSIDE

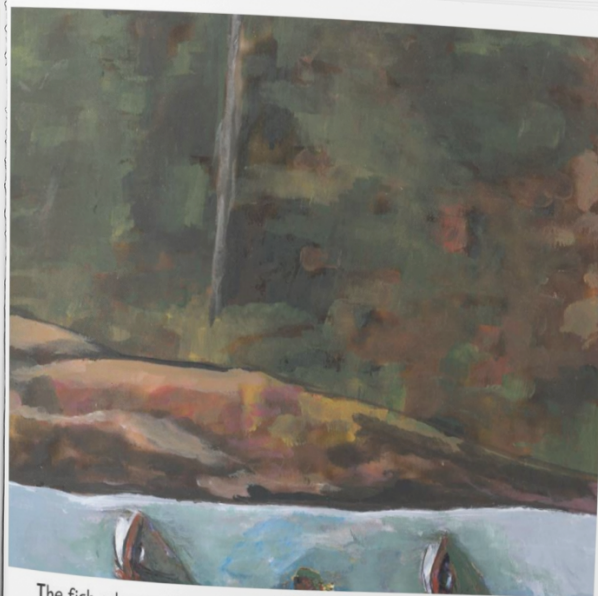

Ravens caw in celebration alongside the Princess. She has worked hard to preserve this night and keep the frigid effects of winter at bay.

When she lands, the Princess swiftly dismounts from her dragonfly and bows, sweeping her wand across her belly in a graceful manner.

It isn't long before the other animals become aware of her bravery and want to join in the festivities. They invite her into their homes, offering her bouquets of fireweed wrapped in birch.

The fish, who can swim to the surface now that the ice is gone, give thanks to the Princess. They applaud and blow her fishy kisses. She catches them, the same way her Mother does when she blows her own kisses.
